FOREWARD

The school year of 1944-45 is the fifth year for the members of the senior class, with the assistance of some of the juniors, to publish a yearbook.

In spite of priorities and inferior supplies, the members of the staff have attempted to produce a yearbook superior to the standard of former years; also, we hope that the standard of the yearbook in the future will improve with peace-time conditions.

We have attempted to include every one in high school; however, some of the students were absent at the time the pictures were taken. Only through the co-operation of every one included between these covers, has the publication of The Edisonian been completed.

If any name has been omitted on Edison's student service roll, we wish to express our sincere apology.

We sincerely hope you will find many pleasant thoughts between these pages when you are in a reminiscing mood of school days in Edison.

DEDICATION

To Edison's men and women--former high school students, alumni, and faculty members--who are serving their country in all branches of the military service at home or on the far-flung battlefronts of the world and to Edison's men who have made the supreme sacrifice in the service of their country, this book is solemnly dedicated.

These noble young men and women have made the sacrifice in order that not only Americans but also the people of the world may have the privilege of enjoying "The Four Freedoms" at the end of this great conflict.

A TRIBUTE

To each of Edison's men and women
 In the service of their country,
 We owe a debt of gratitude
 For enduring hardships long
 In far-flung battles of the world
 On land and sea or in the air.
 To you, who gave up home and friends
 To enter boldly the surge of battle
 And fight for our freedom's sake
 So deeply sacred to every one,
 We wish to extend a royal tribute!
 We shall hold dear in memory
 And honor those who bravely fought
 Never to return in this world,
 But may we meet in heavenly peace.

IN MEMORIAM

Mike Rado, Our Classmate

The boundless ocean waves dashed high
Along a quiet sandy beach;
Then bombs came bursting from the sky,
And many a youth the shore did reach.

There is where our classmate fell!
There is where he gave his life,
Amid the flaming fire of hell
To end the world's remorseless strife!

We shall remember how he fell!
We shall honor the stand he made
In battle and how he fought so well!
His name in glory will not fade!

"V" DAY

Upon some calendar we may not see
Is marked, invisibly, perhaps, the date
Of victory; and there again will be
The swelling chorus of hurrahs, the great
Parade, the blare of horns, the marching song,
As bright confetti falls as thick as rain
Upon the shoulders of the milling throng,
And minds grow drunk on triumph's gay champagne.
The sun will rise and set, the moon will gaze,
With cool detachment, down each crowded street.
And who shall then remember other days
When triumph seemed as joyous and complete?
And by what wisdom may we guarantee
That this parade marks some finality?

Upon some date which is not ours to know,
The roar of press and click of key will vie
With commentators saying thus and so
And half a hundred reasons how and why,
And all the months and years that went before
Will be as naught against those headlines bright.
Grim Tarawa and doomed Corregidor,
Whose bitterness laid milestones toward this night,
Will walk as ghosts along the crowded street
Where only joy is king. But such small notes
Should, for a moment, stay the milling feet,
Should, for a moment, still the shouting throats,
Should, for a moment, bow each single head
In quiet tribute to the proud young dead.

REMINISCING

Peace-time Student:

Edison welcomed one of the larger groups of students to enter its halls as freshmen the eighth of September, 1941. The freshman class was composed of sixty-nine students, thirty-four girls and thirty-five boys, most of whom were from Central School and Columbus School. The members of the class passed successfully through the transition period of making the necessary adjustment of becoming a part of the student body in high school. At the beginning of the first semester, the freshmen elected the following class officers: William Davis, president; Elaine Kimmel, vice-president; Betty Foster, secretary; Emily Werner, treasurer.

War-time Student:

However, the attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, was the initial cause of a change in the life of every high school student. The entry of United States into World War II had an immediate effect upon the lives of the upper classmen, some of whom entered the armed forces before completing their high school course and others withdrew from school to work in war plants. Additional classes in physical education, home nursing, math refresher course, and science were added soon to the regular high school program. Although the war did not have an immediate effect on the program of the freshman class, it did play a most important role in the life of each student as an upper classman.

In February, the class held its first party in Edison Gymnasium. The evening was spent enjoyably in playing a variety of games. Mrs. Brown and Miss Nelson, who were the class sponsors, chaperoned the party. After mid-year examinations the members of the class continued with their regular studies, and the school year drew slowly to a close in May for the long awaited summer vacation.

In September, 1942, the freshmen began their role of life as sophomores, with a loss of fifteen classmates, but they still held the title of one of the largest classes in school. The class officers, who were elected, included: John Kovalow, president; Marion Russell, vice-president; Dolores Carmody, secretary; Norma Kimmel, treasurer. Mr. Baliff and Miss Hartley were our class sponsors. On March 24, the sophomore class held a hobo party, and sandwiches, ice cream, and pop were served for refreshments. After passing the exams in May, the sophomores attained that long awaited title of upper classmen. The class completed the year with a surplus in the treasury, which was needed for expenses during the junior year.

During the summer, part of the students secured part-time or full-time jobs in industry. Some of the students still held part-time jobs of evenings after school and during week-ends after they returned to school in September and assumed their regular school duties. During the election of officers, John Kovalow was elected a second term for the class president. He was assisted by Alfred Fabian--Vice-president, Dolores Addison--secretary, and Helen Hasse--treasurer.

On November 23, "Ghostly Quarantine," a mystery comedy, was presented by the junior class. The play was a financial success as well as being classed as successful entertainment. Mrs. Wiggins, the junior sponsor, resigned from her position at the end of the first semester, and Mrs. Crisman was the new class sponsor with Mr. Stroube for the remainder of the school year. Other activities of the junior year included: the class party, which was held on February 3, with dancing and games for entertainment; movies sponsored by the class for money-making projects; and last, but by no means least, the annual Junior-Senior Prom on May 5.

In the fall of 1944, forty-one dignified seniors entered the halls of Edison, and at the beginning of the school year, they elected the following class officers: Alfred Fabian, president; Dolores Addison, vice-president; Marion Russell, secretary; Julia Karsa, treasurer. Mr. Stroube and Mrs. Zoss were the class sponsors, although Mrs. Zoss resigned on March 9. Shirley Hoskins withdrew from school during the first semester. Calvin Smith, Louis Bottos, Robert Munro, David Mansfield, Ellsworth Hill, Thomas Munro, Lawrence Vizena, William Hyde, Roby Hott, Ronald Silverthorn entered the services of their Country during the school year. John Kovalow, Richard Pollay, Floyd Courtney, and Moses Homoky were expecting to enter service near the close of the school year.

At the beginning of the second semester, the seniors, assisted by some members of the junior class for the purpose of giving the juniors initial experience for their senior year, began work on the yearbook under the direction of Miss Hartley. In order to have a yearbook this year, work was begun much earlier than usual.

The class play entitled "Tish," a three-act comedy, was the outstanding achievement of the class during its four years in high school. The cast worked many long hours under the direction of Miss Clauson in order to be classed as successful high school actors and actresses on April 20, 1945.

On May 21, the members of the class and faculty enjoyed a Farewell Banquet at Liebel's Restaurant.

Baccalaureate Services were held in Edison Gymnasium on Sunday, May 20, at 8:00 p.m. Dr. William E. Clark of the Methodist Church in Gary was the speaker for the evening. The Glee Club of Edison High School furnished the music, the invocation was given by Elaine Hamilton, and William Martin gave the benediction.

The final event, to which the seniors had looked forward during the last four years, was the Commencement Exercises in Edison's auditorium on May 22, at 8:00 p.m. The general theme for the student speakers was "To Seek a Better World" with the following sub-topics: "The Dream of the Ages"--Shirley Heibert; "The Immediate Task"--George Shields; "Goals for the Post War World"--Juanita Brown; "Individual Responsibility"--Maxine Forney; "These Things Will Endure"--Gerald Dittrich; "Across a New Threshold"--Alfred Fabian, president of the class. Members of the Glee Club furnished the music for the occasion, and the invocation and benediction were offered by Betty Moy and Norma Kimmel respectively. The American Legion awards, school awards, and diplomas were presented according to the custom of former years; however, the fact that several members of the class being in service caused those who were present to realize more than ever that the Class of '45 in Edison High School was a War-Time graduating class.

On the closing day of school, May 25, members of the senior class concluded the school year by giving a program entitled the "Senior School of Radio Broadcast."

CLASS POEM

In the halls of Edison in 1942 was seen,
A very large group of freshmen, all exceptionally green.

We worked and worked to learn all we could hold
To be sophomores next year, at least that's what we were told.

Sophomores at last, most of us stayed,
But there were a few who didn't make the grade.

We had a lot of good times this year, the same as the last,
It seemed no time at all until it was past.

Our junior year came and it rolled right on,
But we are sorry to say, more of our members are gone.

We had lots of fun giving parties and dances,
Yes, 'twas the beginning of some great romances.

Still we are working to get everything done,
For our remaining years of school are only one.

Now we enter Edison's halls with Pride,
For at last we're seniors and called dignified.

More good times are had although,
Alas, comes the time when we all must go.

Our boys are leaving to join the ranks,
To man our guns, our jeeps, our tanks.

The rest of us leave, our destinies unknown,
To venture out in this world alone.

Now we say farewell to you who will thrive,
On the fond memories left by the class of '45."

WAR-TIME CONTRIBUTION

We, the members of the Senior Class of Edison High School, being of sound mind after surviving four strenuous years of which three and one-half years were completed during the strain of World War II, do hereby publish our war-time will, which is a contribution to the war effort.

I, Delores Addison, leave my "bossy" technique to a sergeant in the Marines.

I, Betty Foster, leave my "soft tones" to any sergeant in the Army.

I, Norma Kimmel, leave my books to the waste paper drive.

I, Maxine Forney, leave my meek attitude to a worthy private in the Army.

I, Shirley Heibert, leave my typing ability to any draftee wanting to do clerical work in the Army.

I, Julia Karsa, leave the fillings of my teeth to the metal drive.

I, Betty Moy, leave my sister to the WACS.

I, Juanita Brown, leave my scientific ability to a Cadet Nurse.

I, Delores Carmody, leave my "man-getting looks" to the draft board.

I, Mary Kimbrell, leave the school to train others for the war effort.

I, Helen Hasse, leave my romantic entanglements to a Wave.

I, Betty Stanton, leave a million dollar war bond to the future new Edison building.

I, Elaine Hamilton, leave my ability to express myself to a Navy man.

I, Dolores Salen, leave my alarm clock to any bugler having trouble awaking of a morning.

I, Wilma Thews, leave my nylons to the paratroopers.

I, Marion Russell, leave myself to a USO show needing a good entertainer.

I, William Sievern, leave my crew cuts to a new recruit.

I, John Kovalow, leave my rugged physique to a Marine trainee.

I, Alfred Fabian, leave my managerial ability to some one who wishes to become a general with five stars.

I, Floyd Courtney, leave my lady friends to the United States for the service of their country.

I, Helen Lodak, leave my ability to make bandages to the Red Cross.

I, Lois Tarrant, leave my flute to the Navy Band.

I, Elizabeth Podner, leave my riding ability to the cavalry.

I, Louis Bottos, leave a shoe stamp to the next infantry man.

I, Jerry Dittrich, leave my jokes to Bob Hope for his next USO tour.

I, David Mansfield, leave my suit to the United Nations Clothing Relief Campaign.

I, LaVerne McGrath, leave my freckles to a camouflage division.

I, Roy Lampley, leave my polite manners to a Navy ensign.

I, Moses Homoky, leave my grand stand defense to Hitler, who will need it when the war closes.

I, Thomas Munro, leave my knowledge of foreign affairs to those who will represent United States at the World Peace Conference.

I, William Martin, leave my drums to the Drum and Bugle Corps of the Field Artillery.

I, Thomas Pearson, leave my boastful ego and excellent stories to a guard in the U. S. Coast Guard.

I, Roby Hott, leave my clarinet to the Coast Guard Band.

LEADERS OF TOMORROW

While cruising along the new eight-lane super-highway in my jet-propelled convertible one balmy spring day in the year, 1957, I came to my old home town of East Gary. It was very difficult to recognize the town because so many improvements had been made. Deciding that the post office was the proper place to secure information, I asked a small child the way.

Upon my arrival, whom should I see behind the window but my good friend and classmate, Thomas Munro--with him was Betty Stanton. Fortunately, I stopped between "rush-hours," so he took time to visit with me and told how he and Miss Stanton had managed the post office for five years and how the volume of mail had increased greatly. I inquired of him about some of my other classmates, and he gave me the address of Thomas Pearson. Not recognizing the address, I had to inquire as to how the streets were named, and he informed me that the arrangement of the names of the streets had been accomplished by William Sievern, who had adopted a new simplified system of addresses. He added that Bill had done more for East Gary in three years than most men could in six years.

Reaching the Pearson place, which was a low rambling modern home constructed chiefly of glass brick, whom should I see at the door but Lois Tarrant. She looked a little older, perhaps, but she still had her charming personality. She told me that Tom was in New York for a few days and that he was a well-known buyer in the stock exchange and had accumulated quite a large sum of wealth by his skillfull choice of stocks. After dinner to which Lois kindly invited me, I turned on her television set. When the announcer spoke, he said, "Ladies and gentlemen, we bring to you a band that has been playing at the Palmer House in Chicago for seventy-two weeks." On the television screen appeared the figures of the band. Two of them had a familiar appearance, so I adjusted the focusing dial and saw William Martin playing the drum and Roby Hott in his usual place with his clarinet. Lois told me that Roby and Bill organized the band five years after leaving school and that the band had become the most popular one in the nation.

After listening to the program, I expressed my appreciation for the delicious dinner and a most enjoyable visit and left for the MacArthur Hotel, which I learned, much to my surprise, was managed by William Hyde. It was a nineteen story building which replaced the Old Lake Tavern. When I inquired of the bell boy for the manager, he informed me that he was talking to an old classmate in one of the rooms. Going to the room, whom should I meet but Jerry Dittrich. Although I had heard of Jerry and had seen his picture in the paper as owner of the largest manufacturing plant in the world, this was the first time I had seen him since our 1945 graduation. During our visit, Jerry told me that Dolores Carmody was his private secretary. I asked Bill if he knew where LaVerne McGrath was, so he reached into a magazine rack and took out a pamphlet advertising Du Pont chemical products. On one page was a full-color photograph of LaVerne as the head chemist of the laboratories. I was not very much surprised for LaVerne had always been interested in chemistry.

I stayed all night with Jerry, and Bill took us to the municipal airport the next morning, where Jerry had a reservation for his return trip to his factory. Imagine our surprise when we learned that the seat next to Jerry's was reserved for Lieutenant Colonel Ellsworth Hill of the United States Army Air Corps. His mission was evidently quite important for they held the plane ten minutes past time for his arrival. There wasn't time for more than a handshake, so I asked him to write a letter at his earliest convenience. When Alfred Fabian and Richard Pollay were elected Congressmen, they proposed a bill and secured its passage for the erection of this ultra-modern airport. Both were re-elected for a second term due to the splendid work they were doing.

After seeing Jerry and Ellsworth depart, I bought a newspaper at a newsstand, and on the front page was the photograph of a man whose face had that familiar smile of Moses Homoky. The headlines told of his promotion to third-vice-president of the Carnegie Illinois Steel Corporation due to his unflinching perseverance and faithfulness to his work. In another section of the paper, I read where an engineering project in Brazil had just been completed under the supervision of an engineer named John Kovalow. Wondering if that could be the John Kovalow of our old school days, I asked Bill about him. Since he did not know, he suggested that we go to the drug store where Marion Russell was manager. I learned that she had purchased the store at the time Mr. Leo Meister had retired.

When we entered the store, she knew Bill, of course, but she had some difficulty in recognizing me. She verified my belief about John Kovalow and told us that John had gone to Purdue University and after graduation had accepted a position with a large engineering concern. She showed us some cosmetics made by "Karsoy" Co. in New York. After looking at the products, we learned that Julia Karsa and Betty Moy had the third largest cosmetics business in the United States.

Picking up a magazine from a rack and leafing through it, I noticed a picture of Elaine Hamilton. The title of the article was "The Coming United States Tennis Champion". Elaine was to compete in the finals the next week in New Jersey. Wondering what magazine would have her picture in it, I turned to the editorial page and read the names of Shirley Heibert and Maxine Forney as editor and associate editor respectively. They had founded the magazine which was entitled "Ladies' Day" in 1953, and it had become the best selling magazine on the market. There was, also, an article about a new dean, Miss Delores Addison, being appointed at Vassar College. She had been selected because of her high grades and willingness to work while she was in college. Marion told me that Betty Foster was a buyer for Marshall Field's and was in Paris buying the latest styles of dresses; also, that Dolores Salen was a home economics and home nursing teacher in a high school in Ohio.

After leaving the store, I went to my convertible and found a ticket for parking too long. When I reported at the police station, I learned that David Mansfield was the city judge and that Calvin Smith was city controller. Calvin had received the Navy Cross for gallantry in action during the last war. Dave was really an honest judge because he did not release me from paying the five dollar fine even though I had been an old classmate of his. Dave had been wounded, and while he was convalescing in a hospital in Florida, one of his nurses was Wilma Thows. She and Juanita Brown had joined the Navy Nurse Corps and had gone into training after their graduation from high school. While waiting for Dave to finish his work, I looked at the city directory and discovered an advertisement for Rhody's Beauty Shop. Then, Dave took me to a restaurant operated by Helen Ledak and her sister. He told me that they had a large chain of restaurants located in Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan, and that the main one was located in Chicago.

After dinner, I went to the beauty shop, and there was Mary setting Norma Kimmel's hair. I saw that Norma had on a nurse's uniform and learned that she worked in a large white hospital I had seen earlier in the day. They showed me an article in a magazine about Helen Hasse, who had written a new book which according to the critics would climb to the top of the best-seller list. After reading the article, I said "goodbye" and left the shop.

While driving to the hotel, I turned on the radio in the middle of the Roy Lampley program. He played the new song-hit, "Rocket Ship Rag." I slept at the hotel that night. In the morning I drove away from my home town satisfied that all of my old classmates had been successful in their enterprises.

After spending a pleasant vacation of looking up my old classmates, I, George Shields, returned to the Colossal Studios of which I was manager in Hollywood, and I might, also, state that Larry Vizena was a comedian in the studio and Robert Munro was still at his old line of sports writing. After arriving in Hollywood, Robert informed me that Ronald Silverthorn, Floyd Courtney, and Louis Bottos still enjoyed being in the service of their Country and were high ranking officers. Last but not least, Elizabeth Podner, who was my secretary, had managed successfully the studio while I was on my vacation; thus, I was ready to continue with my regular schedule of duties.

"VICTORY OR DIE"

A toast to the seniors of '45!

Four years at Edison and still alive,
Starting like greenhorns as every one knows
Pushing a pencil up the floor with our noses.

A toast to the seniors, tops in the schools,
Been through it all and are nobody's fools,
Going out in a world to take our own place
Prepared for all problems we may have to face.

A toast to the seniors, may their days be long,
With minds that are clear, hearts that are strong,
Filled with a slogan, "Victory or Die"
Proud to have graduated from Edison High.

A toast to the seniors, twelve years of knowledge,
Some leave for service, many for college,
Others to be farmers, may be school teachers,
Some will be craftsmen, others will be preachers.

A toast to the seniors, leaving Edison's dear halls,
With initials on desks, names on the walls,
Leaving their impression on every one's mind,
An impression very good or some other kind.

A toast to the seniors, never forgotten,
Called every name from sugar to rotten,
Seen all the text books from cover to back,
Learned all this knowledge and on the right track.

A toast from the class of '45!
To all other classes passing the ordeal alive
Be proud of your school, Edison High
Pray keep our little slogan, "Victory or Die!"

JUNIOR CLASS

Our first important event of our third year in Edison High was the election of officers of the class. Although a third treasurer was elected due to the fact that Robert Papka and John Walczak, who withdrew from school to enter the Navy, resigned from their positions, the final set-up of officers was as follows: president, Peter Shakula; vice-president, Steve Longazo; secretary, Pauline Millender; treasurer, Betty Demo. Mrs. Crisman was our class adviser.

The moment for which we had waited during our high school days finally arrived the day we ordered our class rings. However, we more or less broke a tradition when we received our rings the latter part of our junior year instead of waiting until we were seniors.

Our class play entitled "Girl Shy," a three-act comedy, was presented in Edison Gymnasium on December 5. The play was an outstanding achievement for the cast under the direction of Miss Clauson. The total receipts of $165.13 rewarded the cast for the many hours of practice which were spent.

For other financial affairs, the class sponsored movies, such as "Tom Sawyer" and "Out West with the Five Peppers and a Saint Patrick's Dance on March 17, also a Pre-Prom Spring Dance May 5.

The crowning event of the school year was the Prom given by the Junior Class of Edison High School for the seniors in Marquette Pavilion on Saturday night, May 12, with the Grand March starting promptly at 9:30 p.m.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Having passed the first round of the ladder of education, the members of the Sophomore Class began their second round by electing all boys as class officers. Manley Minard assumed the responsibility as class president and was assisted in his duties by Earl Cooper, who was vice-president, William Crago as secretary, and Edwin Donovan as Treasurer. Miss Hartley and Mr. Baliff served as class sponsors.

Being next to the largest class in school, the class contributed its share to athletics, G.A.A., and the various school activities.

The usual class party was enjoyed by the members of the class each semester--the first party being held on November 6, 1944, in the gymnasium and the second on Wednesday night, April 4, 1945.

A scavenger hunt provided part of the entertainment of the first party while a variety of games were enjoyed at both social affairs as well as an abundance of refreshments, which helped to keep up a high morale which is very much needed during such a critical period of the present world conflict.

Members of the class had the privilege of carrying on their regular program of study with the exception of shop classes, which were omitted this year due to the shortage of teachers in that specialized field.

Having completed two years of high school on the closing day of the school year 1944-45, members of the class are looking forward to beginning the third round of the ladder of education in the month of September this fall.

FRESHMAN CLASS

According to custom on the first day of school, September 5, 1944, a new group of students enrolled for their first time and received their classification as "freshmen" in Edison High. Their sportsmanship was tested the very first day, as the upperclassmen began their initiation practices when the first group of freshmen boys entered the building.

Having completed the initial task of enrollment and initiation ceremonies, members of the freshmen class became a part of the regular student body and undertook their role of study for the first year of their high school life.

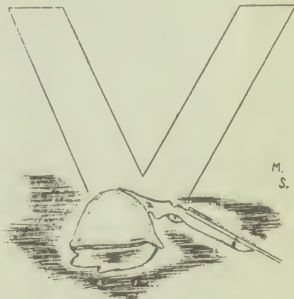

In order to receive a well-rounded education and to take part in the various activities of the school, the class formed an organization under the leadership of Jeanette Munro as president; Lester Hasse, vice-president; Verla MacAttee, secretary; Nick Malinoff, treasurer. Mrs. Brown was their sponsor throughout the year.

Still during the second semester, sixty members of the class were able to survive the tests in education. The girls surpassed the boys in number as two-thirds of the class consisted of girls.

Although this is their first year in school, the freshmen class ranked scholastically with the upperclassmen, as they were well represented with respect to the other classes on the honor roll each six-weeks' period.

Although the class had the privilege of having a party each semester, only one party was enjoyed by its members the last of the second semester.

The final event in the life of each freshman was passing that final examination in order to earn the title of a sophomore.

VARSITY

During the basketball season this year, the Eagles were mostly veterans with a few regulars remaining in school for next season. The team was comprised of Alfred Fabian, Ronald Silverthorn, John Kovalow, John Walczak, Moses Homoky, George Shields, Thomas Pearson, William Crago, William Brown, William Hyde, and Robert Munro. Robert Munro and John Walczak and Ronald Silverthorn withdrew from school during the season to enter the service. The boys showed excellent fighting spirit and good sportsmanship throughout the season. The Eagles won a total of fifteen games and lost only five previous to the Sectional Tournament.

The Eagles lost the opening game of the season to Merrillville on the home floor on November 3. Alfred Fabian led the attack with a total of fourteen points.

On November 15, the Eagles won their first game of the season against Wirt on the latter's home hardwood. Alfred Fabian was high scorer with thirteen points.

The team won its second game of the season with quite a fiercely contested battle at Griffith. Moses Homoky, who led the attack collected fifteen points.

Edison took an easy victory from Chesterton the next game, although the Maroons put up a fight in the first quarter. John Kovalow held individual scoring honors with thirteen points.

In the next game the Eagles defeated Gary Roosevelt for its fourth victory of the season, and John Kovalow was high scorer with fifteen points.

The Eagles beat Hobart in a bitterly contested battle in one of the best games during the season. Moses Homoky was high point man with ten points.

The team suffered its second defeat of the season, also its second defeat at the hands of the Pirates of Merrillville. After leading the scoring for the first-half of the game, the players lost to the Pirates. Alfred Fabian, center, led the scoring with twenty-two points.

Their sixth victory out of eight games was over Tolleston of Gary. The superior rebound play and scoring power of Alfred Fabian, Ronald Silverthorn, and Moses Homoky with the support of the rest of the team was too much for Tolleston.

Once again, the Eagles scored another victory of the season over Dyer by an overwhelming score. Alfred Fabian and John Kovalow took top scoring honors with eighteen and fifteen points respectively.

Edison won the last scheduled game of the year, 1944, over Crown Point with a score of 43-36 before entering the Holiday Tourney. In the Holiday Tourney, which was held December 29-30, Edison defeated Dyer but lost the Championship due to being defeated by Merrillville--the Pirates defeating the Eagles for the third time this season.

Edison added another victory to its list by defeating Wheeler. Once again, Alfred Fabian was high scoring man with twenty-one points.

The team added another game to its victory list in a closely contested affair with Wirt of Gary. John Walczak contributed fifteen points to the score and William Crago twelve points.

During the thirteenth scheduled game of the season, the Eagles lost only their fourth game to Edison of Gary, with both teams gaining a high score 51 to 57. For the second time Alfred Fabian scored twenty-two points.

In another high-score game of the season, the team played host to Griffith and defeated the Panthers by collecting half their points at the free throw line. Moses Homoky was high scorer with sixteen points.

Next, the two old rivals, Edison and Hobart, played on Edison's home floor--of course, Edison was victorious and trounced the Brickies.

The Eagles won the next two games of the season by defeating the Portage Indians in the Portage gymnasium and winning a decisive victory over Crown Point in the last home game. John Kovalow and Alfred Fabian were high scoring men respectively of these two games.

Quite a coincidence occurred this year, as the Eagles lost their opening and closing games of the eighteen games scheduled this season--making a total of fourteen victories and only four games lost. The last game of the basketball season was played at Michigan City and prepared the team for the tournament the following week.

In the first game of the Sectional Tournament at Hammond, the Eagles romped over Lowell without any difficulty. Edison trounced the Brickies of Hobart in another high score game in the quarter-finals. Much to the surprise of many of

"B" TEAM

The Eagles of 1944-45 opened the season with a 19-7 victory over Merrillville. Next, the team entered the Portage "B" Team Tourney, which was held November 24, and lost a hard fought game to Portage with a score of 17-19. Edison Eaglets had an all season record of seven victories and eleven defeats.

During the season, the team consisted of the following players: William Walker, Frank Demo, William Crago, William Coulter, William Brown, Edwin Donovan, Ernest Benedict, Wesley Arington, Donald Bonomo, Robert Lannom, Manley Minard, Robert McDonald, Nick Malinoff, and William Malinoff.

Although the "B" team did not attain the record of the usual number of victories achieved in former years, the players are to be commended for their splendid team work as a group of inexperienced boys in basketball. When the 1945-46 basketball season rolls around, these boys will be ready to uphold the tradition of Edison High School in basketball.

BASEBALL

Edison's baseball team completed one of its most successful seasons in the history of the school by winning six straight games and losing only the final game.

The season opened with Edison winning over Merrillville with a score of 4-3 on the home diamond. Thomas Pearson struck out 19 and allowed 1 hit.

The Eagles won the second home game with a 6-0 victory over the Portage Indians. William Walker struck out 7 and allowed 3 hits, while Pearson, munro, and Crago powered the attack with 2 hits each.

Next, the Eagles ventured to Dyer and scalped the Indians to the tune of 8-1. Thomas Pearson did the hurling and struck out 12 while allowing 2 hits. Moses Homoky and William Crago led the attack--each scored 2 hits.

Also, the next game was played at Dyer as the home diamond was too wet because of local rains. Again, Edison was victorious with a score of 7-2. William Walker took his turn at striking out 6 while allowing 3 hits, and Thomas Pearson and William Crago scored 2 hits.

Their fifth victory was over Portage on Portage's home diamond with a score of 10-4. Thomas Pearson was at his post of striking out 16 and allowing 3 hits.

At Merrillville, the Eagles won their sixth straight victory, and William Walker hailed a nice one-hit game giving him credit to 3 straight wins, and Moses Homoky scored 3 hits, making the score 6-0.

Then came the only black mark on the Eagle's record for the entire season with a 3-5 loss to Portage for the Lake-Porter Conference Championship.

Credit should be given to William Crago for his playing at first base, Robert Munro for his catching, and Moses Homoky for his stellar play at short-stop. William Walker and Thomas Pearson divided the pitching task and were very successful, under the direction of Coach Baliff. The Batting average trophy was won by Thomas Pearson, who was captain.

"E" MEN'S CLUB

The "E" Men's Club has completed its sixth year as an athletic organization in Edison High School since it was founded during the fall of 1939 by Coach Doyle Baliff and Assistant Coach Harold Weber.

In order to become a member of this club, one must have earned a major letter in one of the major sports--basketball, baseball, or track--during the school year. Members of the club are not required to earn a major letter every year to remain in the club as long as they are in good standing in athletics.

The purpose of the club is to promote athletics and a spirit of true sportsmanship in Edison High School.

The outstanding event of the school year that rewards an "E" Man for his many hours spent in training and during the games of the season is the annual banquet sponsored by the Lion's Club. This year, the banquet was held at Tiebel's Restaurant, and Mr. J. E. Gilroy, director of physical education in the Gary Schools, was the speaker for the evening.

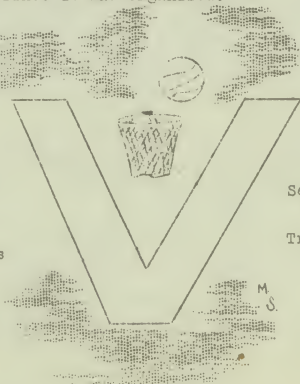

Mr. Baliff, the coach of Edison High, has sponsored the club each year since it was organized.

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of people with mental health problems, and the importance of providing them with appropriate services. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the development of mental health services, the establishment of mental health trusts, and the implementation of mental health legislation.

The purpose of this paper is to review the current state of mental health services in the UK, and to discuss the challenges facing mental health services in the future. The paper will focus on the following issues:

- The current state of mental health services in the UK
- The challenges facing mental health services in the future
- The role of the mental health services in the future

The paper will first review the current state of mental health services in the UK, and then discuss the challenges facing mental health services in the future. The role of the mental health services in the future will then be discussed.

BAND

This year marked the seventh successful year of the Band by rehearsing the first hour of each morning, with Miss Rosemary Files as its director.

The Band's first public appearance this year was at the Annual Tea given by the Band Boosters on October 20 in the Edison Gymnasium. Their next entertainment was a Christmas Pageant given on December 21.

Several boys of the band, under the direction of Miss Files, organized a Dance Orchestra, which played for several dances given by various school organizations.

On April 28, the Band journeyed to Whiting, Indiana, for the State Band and Orchestra Contest.

Senior members of the Band, who received sweater awards, were: Jerry Dittrich, Thomas Munro, Thomas Pearson, Roby Hott, William Martin, Alfred Fabian, and Lois Tarrant.

Compared to preceding years, the band has decreased in size, since four members have enlisted in the Armed Forces this year. They are William Walker, Frank Husarik, Thomas Munro, and Jesse Robbins.

The officers for the year were as follows:

William Martin-----President

Roby Hott-----Vice-President

Lois Tarrant-----Secretary

DeYette Goetze-----Treasurer

EDISON GLEE CLUB

Under the direction of Miss Rosemary Files, thirty-five members of the Edison Glee Club have completed their first year of successful vocal work. The first appearance of the Glee Club was at the Band Booster's Tea on October 20. On December 21, the Glee Club with the members of the band presented the Christmas Pageant. Also, it participated in the annual Northern Indiana Band, Orchestra, and Vocal Association Contest held in Whiting, Indiana, on April 28.

Members of the Glee Club furnished the music for the Baccalaureate and Commencement Exercises, which concluded the activities of the Glee Club for the school year of 1944-45.

SUNSHINE SOCIETY

The Sunshine Society opened its activities of the year with the initiation of thirty-six new members, making a total membership of one hundred and six girls.

On October 7, the society sponsored a roller skating party at the roller skating rink in Gary. Besides the regular ice cream and candy sales, a chilli dinner was held on November 6, during the noon-hour as a money-making affair. The society purchased two $25.00 War Savings Bonds and gave a contribution of $25.00 to the Riley Fund this year.

According to the custom for a number of years, the girls decorated the high school building with the usual Christmas decorations, which helped create the Christmas atmosphere in the halls the last week before vacation.

On February 8, the play entitled "Cracy to Reduce" was given by seventeen girls for convocation and the February meeting of Central-Edison Parent Teachers Association.

A group of girls with their sponsor journeyed to the Parramore Hospital on February 10 for the purpose of presenting gifts to the girls. During former years, the girls presented the gifts at Christmas time, but the date was changed to Valentine's Day last year, so as to add a bit of cheer for the girls throughout the year.

Next on the Sunshine girls' calendar was the Valentine Dance, which was held in Edison Gymnasium on February 10--with the Grand March starting at 9:00 p.m. and Edison's Dance Orchestra furnishing the music.

Eight Sunshine girls and their sponsor attended the Lake County Girls Conference in Roosevelt School in Gary, April 7.

The Annual Mother-Alumnae Reception was held on Wednesday evening, May 9. A program of entertainment, including the installation of officers for next year, and a social hour filled the evening.

The final event of the year was the Annual Sunshine Breakfast, which was enjoyed by the girls at the beach on May 17.

The officers for the year were: Helen Hasso, president, Mary Jane Rains, vice-president; Janie Eubank, secretary; Julia Karsa, treasurer; Miss Clauson was the sponsor.

EDISON COMMERCIAL CLUB

This year marked the sixth anniversary of the Edison Commercial Club, which was organized the second semester of the year 1939-40. It has a voluntary membership but is limited to the students in the Commercial Department.

On January 3, the members of the club had the opportunity of spending the day in Chicago for the purpose of taking two worthwhile tours. The first tour was conducted by Mr. Bisson through the Board of Trade building, where they watched the trading in the grain pits and were given a lecture about the Board of Trade, its founding and purpose. Many of the members saw the city of Chicago from the observatory of this building. The second tour of the day was taken through the Chicago Tribune plant for the purpose of learning many interesting facts about how a newspaper is published. Both tours proved to be very interesting to all of the members of the club. For entertainment, members of the club had the privilege of attending their choice of a moving picture.

The second trip, taken by the club, was a tour through the Accounting Department in the Hospital Building of the Carnegie Illinois Steel Mills in Gary on February 26. Members of the club saw the operation of office machines that are not found in many offices in the State of Indiana.

During the month of March, the last worthwhile tour was taken through the Gary National Bank for the purpose of seeing the actual operations of a bank.

Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Smith of the Gary Business College, a stenotype demonstration was presented in April.

The regular social semester-party was held the latter part of the school year.

Due to the untiring efforts of the sponsor, Miss Hartley, the Edison Commercial Club has completed another successful year.

GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Girls Athletic Association has been an active organization in Edison High School since 1939 when it became a member of the Indiana League of Girls Association under the sponsorship of Miss Viola Englehardt.

Membership is open to all girls who can earn enough points by regular participation in sports and incidentally survive the week of initiation.

Last fall, Delores Addison, Elaine Hamilton, Mary Kimbrell, and Helen Hasse received their awards which were earned last year.

The new sophomore members were initiated the first semester and the freshmen, the second semester. A party in honor of the new members was enjoyed by those present on Friday evening, March 2.

The officers elected and sportsmen appointed for the year were as follows:

JUNIOR PLAY

A large audience enjoyed the evening performance of the play entitled "Girl Shy" under the direction of Miss Clauson on December 5 in Edison Gymnasium.

Tom Arsdale, a handsome young college student and his roommate, Oke, were on the verge of graduation from college. Tom had the reputation of a woman hater, but Oke was quite decidedly the opposite type. Babs Stanford decided to do something about the matter and changed places with the girl who cleaned Tom and Oke's room. At first, Bab's presence made no impression on Tom, but just about the time Tom became interested in Babs, Mr. Arsdale, Tom's father, brought Sylvia Webster from the old home town and informed Tom of his choice for Tom's companion. Babs was in a difficult situation when the girl with whom she had changed places, returned. Complications arose as Mr. Arsdale formed a conspiracy with Chuck to kidnap Babs on the night of the masquerade, but due to the fact that Babs and Sylvia changed costumes, the wrong girl was kidnapped by Chuck. After the dance when the mistake was discovered, Tom presented his fiancée, Miss Barbara Sanford, to his father. Nobody was girl-shy as Alfred has his arm around Sylvia, the Dean took Caroline, Chuck regained Birdie, and Oke had his sweetheart, Peaches.

SENIOR PLAY

One of the eventful nights of the Class of '45 was on April 20, when the class play entitled "Tish," a three-act comedy by Mary Roberts Rinehart, was presented under the direction of Miss Clauson in Edison Gymnasium.

Lotitia Carberry, who was called Tish, informed her two boon companions, Lizzie and Aggie, that she was determined to get closer to nature and to lead a simpler life. After Tish bought a second-hand car and before the three middle-aged spinsters started on their journey with Tish driving, Lizzie wired Tish's young nephew, Charlie Sands, about his aunt's latest project and advised him as to their destination.

Charlie flew in his plane to the Southwest and stopped at "The Eagle Hotel" near the Mexican border. After having car trouble, Lizzie and Aggie limped to the hotel shortly after Charlie's arrival. After getting the car started and driving through the plate glass window of Luther Hopkins across the road, Tish entered in the act of refusing to pay Luther's stormy demands for damages.

The hotel safe was looted, and Tish dragged Aggie out with her to search for the money. Tish accidentally took Aggie up in the air in Charlie's plane. After losing control of the plane, she dropped Aggie off on the roof of the barn and soared upward again. The following day, the newspaper headlines proclaimed that a lone female spy had been sighted flying over Mexico, and Tish became the center of international complications. Tish returned amid the excitement, straightened out the tangled romances of Charlie and Ellen, also Betinna and Wesley, and rounded up the robbers--Lem and Dorice, his accomplice.

LIBRARY

Students of Edison High have come to the realization that the library has other functions besides serving as a place of refuge from study hall. A much wider use has been made of its facilities this school year than during previous years. Every afternoon period, the seats at the tables in the library were occupied by students pouring over some map or book in an endeavor to find out more in regard to some place recently brought into prominence through the activities of the war or, perchance, some new invention or scientific discovery to be used for war purposes.

Present-day conditions undoubtedly present a challenge to librarians to keep the student body's source of information up-to-date. Our librarian, Mrs. Brown, has tried to meet this challenge by means of the addition of a morning and evening daily newspaper, various magazines, and a wide selection of books in all fields. It is the earnest desire of the librarian and assistants to render a most valuable and efficient service to students of Edison High School.

Student volunteer assistants for the year, 1944-45, were Elizabeth Podner, Priscilla Hill, and Jeanette Munro.

"EAGLE FEATHERS"

At the end of the school year, 1944-45, Eagle Feathers completed its eighth year of existence in Edison High School of East Gary.

Even though materials have been very scarce and difficult to secure, due to the shortage of supplies for the duration of World War II, our paper has been published on regular schedule of every two weeks.

This year, the paper was published by a group of seniors, most of whom were in the commercial department and were interested in volunteering their services.

Our special issue was the Christmas issue, which was printed in different colors. Also, at the same time, staff members edited and printed a GI Special issue which was mailed to Edison's men and women in the service of our Country.

Our sincerest thanks and appreciation are extended to the East Gary merchants who have helped to make this paper possible by the support of their ads. Also, we wish to thank Miss Hartley and Mrs. Crisman for their guidance in making the paper a success.
